Here and There

Editorial By ALEX. H. WASHBURN

LIFE imprisonment, the maximum penalty, is dealt four of the seven Urschel kidnapping defendants at Oklahoma City Saturday. It spells a great victory for law and order—and it may spell a great change for government as we have known it in America the last hundred and fifty years.

SCORE HALF 24-0

Hope Offensive Gets Going in First 6 Minutes of Play

Hope's Bobcat football team rode on the front end of a heavy score here Friday night, breezing to a 37 to 0 victory over the Lewisville Red Devils before 1,000 spectators.

The Bobcats scored touchdowns in the first, second and third quarters, getting the first marker within six minutes after the game opened.

Three more touchdowns were added in the second quarter, the half ending with Hope out in front by a score of 24 to 0. The locals displayed an offense in the third quarter which carried them across the goal line twice, but were held scoreless in the final period which saw virtually every man on the Bobcat squad in action.

The Bobcat offensive functioned well. Cargile, Matheson, Brown, Harper and Turner getting loose on several occasions for long gains around the ends. Hargis battered his way through to a 37 to 0 victory over the Lewisville Red Devils before 1,000 spectators.

Hope took the ball on the kick off and after a 10-yard return Ken Matheson, 150-pound blond flush, gained five yards on an end run. A penalty set the locals back. In his second attempt Matheson gained eight yards around end. The Bobcats were held and forced to punt. Lewisville's offensive was stopped, forcing a punt. Within the next three minutes the locals had worked the ball to within seven yards of the goal line where Brown carried it over for the first touchdown. Attempt to kick for extra point failed.

Second Touchdown

The second quarter saw Matheson get loose for 20 yards on an end run. He was brought down by the safety man. Two more first downs carried the ball to within five yards of the goal. Turner broke through the line for Hope's second touchdown.

Lewisville kicked off. Cargile received the ball. He threw to Brown who in turn passed to Turner, the latter getting loose in a broken field for 60 yards and a touchdown, furnishing the crowd with the biggest thrill of the game.

Hope scored again in the second quarter. Cargile, Brown, Turner and Harper advanced the ball to within five yards of the goal line. There Cargile went around end for Hope's fourth touchdown.

Brown and Turner scored the other two touchdowns in the third quarter. The first came as a result of a pass, Brown to Turner who again provided the spectators with a long run. Receiving the pass in mid-field, Turner outran the Lewisville team to the goal. Matheson kicked for the only extra point during the contest.

Hope soon took possession of the ball again after holding Lewisville for down after the kick-off. Hargis hit the line for two consecutive first downs.

Reserves Sent In

On the next play Brown went off tackle for a touchdown. Hargis failed in a line play for extra point. The second team was sent in, playing the balance of the third quarter.

The Bobcats were held scoreless in the final period, although Matheson crossed the goal line on a 25-yard run, only to be brought back on a penalty.

Hope made a total of 14 first downs down against three for Lewisville. Penalties were numerous. Hope suffering more than 100 yards for various violations. Lewisville was outweighed several pounds to the man. Although out-classed the Red Devils put up a game fight until the final whistle ended the game.

This was a federal search, a federal trial, and a federal conviction. Local police authorities, North, South, East and West, have shown an increasing incapacity to handle gangsters.

The armed mobs of the late prohibition era were explained by the popular resentment against prohibition—but when racketeers began to prey on legitimate business, and took to snatching children and grown men and women out of their homes for ransom, the federal government intervened.

It intervened with success in the Urschel case in Oklahoma, the Luer case in Illinois, and others.

X X X

But if we are to depend permanently on federal agents, then we may expect far-reaching changes in American government.

The last vestige of state lines will be wiped out.

Prestige of state government will be reduced to little more than the prestige of the town council.

There will have to be a corresponding reduction in the proportion of total taxes now paid to the state government, for if the federal agents are to give us police protection, the federal agents will have to be paid for giving us police protection.

X X X

This is what the Urschel case conjures up for the future.

But it is too early to tell. These are emergency times. With the return of normal business, normal taxes, normal sense of responsibility among local citizens, perhaps the day of federal supervision of everything can be postponed.

Protect Baby From Night Drafts

Fresh air is one thing and drafts are another. I often wish that air could be colored according to current, so that when we open our windows at night we would know what we are doing.

If the north wind could be blue, the south wind red, and east and west, green and yellow respectively, we wouldn't be guessing.

We could fix our sashes, for instance, so a nice red-yellow breeze merging to orange, of course, once inside our room, blew us gently to slumberland. Then turning over an hour or so later and realizing that something had happened, we could snap on the light. "What? That blue wind coming under the door was not there before. And just watch how it creeps along the floor and up the wall and is coloring the space around our bed—steals the shade of a sickly cold-in-the-head. If it's this way in our room, it must be worse in the nursery."

Lining Open Beds

Sure enough, there is the nursery as blue as indigo, and what's more the blue stream is beating against the wall beside Johnny's bed—and bouncing back and down like Niagara all around his little uncovered body.

But air is not colored. We have to go on guessing and predicting. Wind cannot be fixed for long to suit any and every change in the elements.

The best thing we can do is to set our wits to work in the rooms themselves.

I don't know why they still make baby beds with bars. Long ago the bar bed for adults was found to be risky. We went ack to the good old "heads" that kept drafts off the necks of our grandmothers.

But after all, there is a simple remedy. This is to line the small bed with quilted cotton, cheap at the stores, and easy to fit on and tie with tapes. It is none too soon to be lining the open beds of the children.

Diverting Air Currents

Another thing is to place the bed almost anywhere but directly opposite a window. Still another is to get a floor screen, or make one, to divert a direct current of cold air. A little later, when the nights get bitter, muslin or cheesecloth window screens, put in at bedtime, will save many a cold.

Just now, much depends on covers. We can't get out all the comforts and blankets and dress up the beds and say, "That's that! All set now for six months." We are still in for a warm night, now and then. To cover the children too heavily is a direct invitation to Old Man Cold. To cover them too thinly is as bad. So what is the answer? What you are already doing, very likely. Going in one or twice through the night to see how things are and adjusting windows and covers to suit the quick night changes.

I like the bassinets on wheels for young babies. Or a buggy makes a good bed. Both can be moved easily away from cold walls or bad corners. The bassinet is better with some sort of a hood top, too. These are easily improvised.

A lot of blistering comment has been coming from bankers ever since Jesse Jones' R. F. C. chairman, took a crack at said bankers for not being more "liberal" in their lending and urged them to go back to the old-fashioned formula of "lending on character."

Incidentally, Jones' "character-loan" plan recalled that it was J. P. Morgan, recently broiled on the senatorial grill, who always insisted that was the only basis for credit.

A lot of blistering comment has been coming from bankers ever since Jesse Jones' R. F. C. chairman, took a crack at said bankers for not being more "liberal" in their lending and urged them to go back to the old-fashioned formula of "lending on character."

Incidentally, Jones' "character-loan" plan recalled that it was J. P. Morgan, recently broiled on the senatorial grill, who always insisted that was the only basis for credit.

Say something good! You've said too much that was gruff. A little of that is enough. Too much, we opine. For the little vine Of love can't grow on such. You could alter your words if you would, And say something good! Praise the man! You told him all that was wrong. So bridle your bitter tongue. Say, "Fine! That was right." And see the light! Of thanks come into his eye. Your own heart would warm if you would, It only you'd say something good. Living would rise from the coarse, From bitterness and divorce! If only we Might come to see That people hunger for praise. They'd be your slaves if you would. If only you'd say something good. —Tony's Scrap Book

Mrs. Robert Campbell has received notice from the Arkansas State Music Teachers Association that she has been granted a life certificate from that association.

This certificate was granted because of her degree of Bachelor of Music from Meridian Conservatory, and the post graduate work she has completed with Harold Morris, in piano, and P. A. Tirindelli, in violin, in New York City.

Mrs. Campbell resumes her classes Monday at Hope Senior High school.

Storks to Close Season on SundayLocals Will Meet Hot Springs Team at Fair Park

Hope Storks will close the baseball season this year with a game Sunday afternoon against the Hot Springs All-Stars at Fair Park.

Spoke Hunter, formerly of the House of David team who is now sporting a six-inch beard, will pitch for the visitors. Hunter, incidentally, is the only hurler to obtain a shut-out victory over the locals this summer. He beat the Storks here early in the season, 3 to 6.

McClendon of Lewisville, will probably do the pitching for Hope.

Press Taken Over by German StateHitler Will Tell People Only What He Wants Them to Hear

BERLIN, Germany.—A series of drastic laws passed by the cabinet and signed by Chancellor Hitler Thursday made the publishing of treasonable articles abroad or their introduction into Germany punishable by death and made journalism a licensed profession in which Aryans and Nazi patriotism were set up as necessary qualifications.

Penitentiary sentences ranging up to five years were provided for those distributing "atrocities" or anti-Nazi material.

Dr. Joseph Goebbels, minister of public enlightenment, who said he believed other nations of the world would copy the plan within five to seven years, explained in these words:

"The concept of the absolute freedom of the press is pronouncedly liberalistic and proceeds not from the people in its entirety, but from the individual." This, he said, did not mean the newspaper profession would be fettered, but rather only that the state moved in and took the place of the publisher.

"It is the absolute right of the state," Goebbels continued, "to supervise the formation of public opinion and see that it does not pursue paths leading away from the common weal. The more freedom of opinion that is conceded to an individual, the more it can harm the interests of the entire people. The German press hereafter must be single-minded in will and many-sided in expressing this will."

To give teeth to the new classification of the newspaper profession a system of registration will be introduced. Through this Dr. Goebbels' department can keep a close watch on the situation.

Only German citizens of Aryan ancestry, those who have not married non-Aryans and those who have not lost their public rights will be permitted to "influence public opinion," and these must swear not to write, so as to "weaken German military idealism, kultur or trade, or offend religious feelings."
